A Letter from the Pastor

Dear Friends,

The traditions of Lent and meatless Fridays have given Catholics somewhat of an identity in the world. Being Catholic meant attending Mass at least once a week, fasting at certain times and not eating meat on Fridays. These disciplines form us in the ways of the worldwide community of faith and continue to form in us the habits of the heart.

The Constitution on the Sacred Liturgy in 1963 stated, "baptismal and penitential aspects" are to be given greater prominence "in both the liturgy and liturgical catechesis." This document went on to say, "Let the paschal fast be kept sacred...Let it be observed everywhere on Good Friday and, where possible, prolonged through Holy Saturday, as a way of coming to the joys of the Sunday of the resurrection with uplifted and welcoming hearts...The fast on the first two days of the Triduum is especially sacred: according to an early tradition, the Church fasts because these are the days when Christ its Spouse was taken away." (Circular Letter 1988)

This paschal fast is different from the penitential fasting in Lent. As you know, Lent ends as the Holy Triduum begins with the celebration of the Lord's Supper on Holy Thursday. It is then, throughout the Triduum, that the ultimate focus is made on what is to happen at the Easter Vigil. With that special focus, the fasting of Friday and Saturday is not penitential, but anticipatory.

But this kind of fast is not only from food. It should also be fasting from our usual routine of work, being entertained, too much talking and so forth. One should look to quiet the spirit and be less distracted by all that is in the world. Catholics are to enter these days as no others, with a sacred abandonment of all that is materialistic and a serious focus on the Lord and all that He did for us. We come to understand what is meant in psalm 42 when it says, "As the deer longs for running streams, so my soul longs for you, O Lord."

But these preparations for Easter are not done alone. The people of the community of faith need one another; not only for support in these endeavors, but also as practical examples to each other so that each can be encouraged to do his or her best.

It is imperative that these days of the Holy Triduum be distinctly unique from other days if the reality of the events at the Easter Vigil is to be grasped. The community should be mentally, physically and spiritually prepared to be able to participate with an "uplifted and welcoming heart" in this three-day liturgy, for they will keep late hours as they do the vigiling, renouncing, promising, baptizing, and celebrating Eucharist. But as the sacraments of initiation are in process, it should be fairly evident to all that this serious task, to some degree, involves the entire community of faith into which some are baptized and others called into full communion with the Church. Indeed, we support them in their decision and stand with them in faith.

Therefore, all involved should come hungry, famished for God's word, for the deeds they do in the community, for the water and for the bread and wine. Thus, God's word and sacrament will be readily devoured.

Those who are able to reach the "destination" of the Easter Vigil, will have "made the Journey" so to speak, through their preparation and anticipation. They will understand that this celebration is not a passive event. It will not be done "for" them or "to" them, but will in fact be the work of the entire hungry assembly that has invested not only their preparation, but their entire being: mind, heart and body.

This is the epitome of what the Easter Vigil can be if the parish community has an awareness of what is going on and practices fasting in its life. (There is a strong invitation from the U.S. bishops to return to the practice of a fast on Fridays, and to do penance in the cause of justice and peace.

It should be noted, however, that fasting can either put everything into perspective and set the heart right, or it can preoccupy and irritate, depending upon whether the participant is practiced in it. The faithful are advised to make it a good habit for its positive benefits.) In the case of the paschal fast, the Constitution on the Sacred Liturgy and other such documents are describing a fast that goes beyond the "one full meal a day" notion. Consider instead:

- ♦ Doing without food altogether during this time or if need be, just a light and simple meal, such as a humble bowl of soup and/or a piece of bread but only if something is needed to sustain.
- ♦ Since we fast not only from food but also from distractions during the Triduum, turn off the TV, mobile, laptop, iPad.... you get the idea.
- ♦ Accomplish whatever is possible of the shopping, cleaning and chores before sundown on Holy Thursday.
- ♦ Allow the quiet moments of the three days of the Holy Triduum to settle your soul.

It will be a time of struggle and temptation, but it will also be a time of rest and freedom in the Lord. It is He who is our source of strength in this endeavor. Some find it beneficial to participate in the adoration immediately following the Holy Thursday Mass of the Lord's Supper. The faithful are invited to come and pray, read scripture or just sit with Jesus in the Blessed Sacrament within the room of repose. This room will be open until midnight and is a perfect opportunity for anyone to respond in a positive way to Jesus' question to his disciples during His agony in the garden ... "Could you not spend just one hour with me?"

Once the understanding for the potential of the Easter Vigil is grasped, there will be a major shift of attitude toward this most special day and all of the personal preparation that comes before it. Hopefully, there is discussion about this topic among your friends and family so that its sacred potential can be shared and more fully realized.

Whether you attend the Holy Triduum Service or one of our Easter Sunday Masses, may your experience of Easter this year bring you to a new and higher plateau of understanding and faith in Jesus, who became one of us, suffered the torture of humankind, died on the cross and rose from the dead...for you.

Yours in Christ,

Fr. Bede Wevita

The Story of Our Redemption

We begin the final week of Lent with these familiar readings. This year, we hear the Passion from the Gospel of Luke. These readings for Palm Sunday and the Passion used to be read on successive Sundays. Now they are combined into a single feast, so that we may see the whole sweep of the glory and the suffering played out. Jesus accepts the adulation of the crowd, the foreshadowing of his glory in the Resurrection. He bids farewell to his disciples in his last Passover, and forgives his tormentors as he dies on the cross. Later this week, we enter the Holy Triduum of Holy Thursday, Good Friday, and Holy Saturday, when the whole story of our redemption will play out once again.

Palm Sunday

Palm Sunday of the Passion of the Lord and Symbolism

In the Liturgical year, the Church celebrates the whole mystery of Christ from the Incarnation until the day of Pentecost and the expectation of Christ's second coming. The summit of the Liturgical year is the Easter Triduum—from the evening of Holy Thursday to the evening of Easter Sunday. Though chronologically three days, they are liturgically one day unfolding for us the unity of Christ's Paschal mystery. The presence of the risen Lord and his saving work permeates the entire Liturgical Year: Advent, the Christmas Season, Lent, the Easter Season and Ordinary time.

Sometimes, one of the hardest things to explain as a Catholic is our attachment to symbolism. Palm Sunday is a great example of that. We come home from Mass holding palm branches, and we tuck them behind a crucifix or next to the picture of the Last Supper. To anyone who does not know our faith, it looks as though we stuck a few weeds on the wall... imagine their questions! The truth behind this tradition, however, goes to the story of Palm Sunday, when the people heard that Christ was coming and "they took out palm branches and went out to meet him, and cried out 'Hosanna! Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord, [even] the king of Israel.'" (John 12:13). It was a tradition to spread palms before a king as he processed into his city. It was a way to welcome him, to show him glory and homage. Thus, Christ, the true King, was welcomed into Jerusalem. This fulfilled the prophecy in the Old Testament, which declared, "Behold: your king is coming to you, a just savior is he, humble and riding on a donkey." (Zech. 9:9) It revealed that Christ was a great king, but also a humble king. The people greeted him with wild joy and cheers of Hosanna. But one short week later, they crucified him. We celebrate this feast and carry palm branches home with us to commemorate the great humility of Our Lord, who loved us so much that he chose the cross for our salvation.

Living the Faith

Death Leads to Life

By David Gibson

The household's older children erupted into endless shrieks of delight when the phone call came from the hospital announcing the birth of their baby sister and our newest grandchild. Two of the children, overwhelmed by excitement, raced out the door to tell the good news to their neighbors.

New babies are such wonders. Like magnets, they attract neighbors and relatives, family friends and many others, who soon arrive to visit. What everyone wants most is to see the new baby.

I always am amazed at the amount of time people, myself included, can spend simply watching a baby's every twist and turn. Here, after all, is youth in a pure form.

A long, winding journey awaits the child, but this present, newborn moment usually is one of immense hope and happiness.

Allow me now to fast-forward eight or nine decades to the scene of an 85th or 95th birthday party for someone born in 2014. The party may be loads of fun and represent a genuine celebration of a life. But will it erupt with delight at the great promise in this person's life then and there? Maybe not.

To the extent possible, society seemingly suggests, old age should be delayed in favor of youthfulness. Even when an older person's experience, insights and love are valued greatly, old age itself may be feared. So a sense may lurk in the background at our birthday celebration that the time of death is drawing disturbingly close.

Don't most of us find it hard to feel happy about death? Isn't death a dismal outcome for life? As common wisdom somewhat bleakly puts it, life leads over the long haul only to death. And that brings us to Good Friday and Easter, when Christianity stands common wisdom on its head.

According to Easter's wisdom, death leads to life. That is what the days surrounding Easter are about—how Jesus' crucifixion, in its apparent finality, gave way to life. For Christians, Easter means that death points toward life, not away from it.

Death can make life-givers of us at any age. I think often of the grieving wife or husband who, despite suffering greatly in the days after a spouse's death, rises to the moment, becoming a necessary, life-giving source of support for their children, relatives and friends.

Jesus' followers are not at all glib about death, however. Those close to Jesus found his death profoundly painful, just as we suffer over a death. Mary Magdalene "stayed outside the tomb [of Jesus] weeping" (Jn 20:11). The disciples walking toward Emmaus looked "downcast" (Lk 24:17), thinking that when Jesus died their greatest hopes died too. They came to see things differently.

Redemptorist Father Anthony J. Kelly, an Australian theologian, thinks Jesus' life, death and resurrection are something like a parable because they prompt people to think so differently than before. People today might say that parables challenge us to think outside the box. The parable of the good Samaritan challenged people accustomed to thinking ill of Samaritans to reassess that derogatory viewpoint.

Jesus' parables made people "see their ordinary world upside down -- how things looked in the sight of God," Father Kelly wrote in "God Is Love: The Heart of Christian Faith." But behind all of Jesus' parables "was the supreme parable of his life, death and resurrection. In him, the world has Jesus stand at the center of the events surrounding Easter. But from their earliest days, Christians knew Easter was about them, too, about how Jesus' death gives rise to a new pattern of living on their part.

The waters of baptism made this clear. Perhaps familiar with the biblical story of the great flood, the early Christians understood that turbulent waters can lay waste to things as they were. The natural disasters of our times (tsunamis, hurricanes, etc.) reacquaint us with this important reality.

But the early Christians knew that water is not characterized solely by its power to spell the death of old ways. It gives rise to the new. Welcome rains bring plants back to life, and human life cannot survive or grow without water.

Thus baptism, principally celebrated at Easter among early Christians, joined them to the dynamic realities both of Christ's dying and rising.

In baptismal water, Christians at every point in time believe they die to the old and rise to a new way of living meant to fill the world with "promise" and renew "its youth," to borrow Father Kelly's words.

Pope Francis, in a major document titled "The Joy of the Gospel," described the pattern of life set by Jesus' death and resurrection. "However dark things are, goodness always re-emerges and spreads," he wrote.

"Christ's resurrection is not an event of the past," said Pope Francis. Rather, "where all seems dead, signs of the resurrection suddenly spring up. It is an irresistible force."

THE ROMAN CATHOLIC DIOCESE of LAS VEGAS

Sisters and Brothers in Christ,

On Good Friday, April 19, 2019, the Diocese of Las Vegas will take up the national collection for the Holy Land.

The Collection for the Holy Land, in the words of Paul VI, is “not only for the Holy Places but above all for those pastoral, charitable, educational, and social works which the Church supports in the Holy Land for the welfare of their Christian brethren and of the local communities.”

The Collection brings an indispensable support to the Christian minority of the Holy Land. The State of Israel and Palestine have a population of some 10 million people. So the 180,000 Christian inhabitants represent less than 2% of this population. To check the exodus from the Holy Land of Christians whose lives are rendered particularly difficult, the Franciscan Custody implements numerous initiatives. In addition to ensuring the guard of the shrines, the Good Friday Annual Collection allows the living stones to inhabit the Holy Places and in so doing bear witness to the Resurrection of Christ.

Shrines in Bethlehem, Nazareth, Jerusalem and many other locations welcome Christian pilgrims regularly throughout the year with Christian generosity and hospitality. Likewise, the Church in the Holy Land provides housing and food for the poor.

Please be generous, and prayerfully consider how you can support this collection. Holy Land Christians, along with all the clergy and religious working there greatly appreciate your generosity.

May the Lord continue to bless you and your families, I remain

Sincerely yours in Christ,

+George Leo Thomas
Bishop of Las Vegas

Stewardship and the Art of Sharing

By Rev. Joseph D. Creedon, pastor emeritus, Christ the King Parish, Providence, Rhode Island. This excerpt is eighth in a series based on his current book.

Learning the art of sharing is a gift and a discipline that has to be developed. We learn how to share first and best from our parents. “Share with your brother,” “share with your sister,” gets repeated over and over again in our formative years until finally we catch on and no longer have to be told.

Many years ago, I was blessed to share in this experience. A mother was teaching her boys to share. She was a young mother dying of cancer. It was Holy Week and I was visiting her in the hospital. Her days were quickly running out. Her family was with her when I came to visit. Someone had given one of the boys a box of Milk Duds; his brothers wanted some of the candy. The boys knew their mother was sick but were too young to know she was dying. Their skirmish was completely incongruous with the unspoken sadness that filled the room. The young mother, even in her dying, was not going to pass up what was to be one of her last acts of parenting. While her husband and I watched she called the boys to her hospital bed. The boys climbed up on the bed. She asked for the box of candy; it was surrendered. She patiently counted out the pieces into three piles. She gave each boy his share of the candy. There was one candy left. She looked at her husband and me then said, “Sorry,” and plunked the one surviving piece into her mouth. Words fail to capture the power of her selfless teaching or its example. I know that as I was driving home from that visit, it dawned on me that I had just seen Eucharist celebrated with candy.

He took the bread, blessed it and shared it with them saying, "This is my body which will be given up for you." The power of sharing was etched on my heart that day.

Rice Bowls Due Today

Thank you for participating in the CRS Rice Bowl

Program for Lent. To return your Rice Bowl donations, please count up the money in your Rice Bowl, write a check for that amount to "SEAS" with "Rice Bowl" written in the memo line and return the donation in the collection basket or to the Kairos Gift Shop. Thank you!

A Stewardship Moment

Palm Sunday

In the prelude to today's great Passion Narrative, Saint Paul reminds us that we find our hope in the "emptiness" and "humility" of Christ Jesus; a life that led to the cross, but through the cross, to glory and exaltation. The way is not easy. Good stewards know that it requires a willingness to lay aside all rights of personal privilege; emptying ourselves in the service of others; embracing values different from the values of the world. It requires an understanding that to be "in Christ" means to be a servant because Christ came into the world, not as Lord but as servant. What crosses are we willing to carry? What worldly values are we willing to forego in order to share Christ's glory?

Liturgical Minister Day of Renewal

On Saturday, March 30, our liturgical ministers (Eucharistic ministers of Holy Communion, lectors, sacristans, ushers and musicians) were invited to attend a liturgical ministry day-retreat in the Parish Hall. Our guest speaker, Sr. Joyce Zimmerman (pictured bottom left) presented, "Responding to God's Call: The Being and Doing of Ministry Arising from Prayer." It was a great opportunity for our ministers to reflect on the important role they have in the Mass and to refresh their hearts and minds in their ministry. During the retreat, breakout sessions were held for each ministry. SEAS Pastoral Associate Marcie Wilske is pictured bottom right in the breakout session for lectors. Although all of us in the assembly participate in Mass, we depend on the volunteers who fill these liturgical ministry roles to help the Mass run smoothly and to enable the participation of the assembly. Can you imagine if there were no lectors to proclaim the word of God, no Eucharistic Ministers to give Holy Communion, or if every Mass at St. Elizabeth Ann Seton had no music? When you have an opportunity, take a moment to thank our liturgical ministers for serving our faith community. And if you are feeling called to serve at Mass, we welcome you! Orientation and training for new liturgical ministers will be held in May. For more information on how to share your gifts by being a liturgical minister, contact Marcie Wilske at mwilske@seaslv.org (702-804-8370).

Liturgical Environment Presentation

On Sunday, March 31, Sr. Joyce Zimmerman (pictured below), the founding director of the Institute for Liturgical Ministry in Dayton, Ohio gave a presentation in the Parish Hall on liturgical environment and worship space. She discussed the Church's teaching on the primary sanctuary furnishings—the altar, ambo and presiders' chair—and answered questions about the proposed church enhancements in our upcoming capital campaign. Thank you to those who came out and participated in the discussion. Our Honoring Our Past Embracing Our Future Capital Campaign will officially launch on the weekend of May 17/18. As we prepare, please take a copy of the campaign prayer card from the gathering space and pray for God's guidance as we work together to make the campaign a success.

our PAST
EMBRACING
our FUTURE

A Campaign for Saint Elizabeth Ann Seton

God of the past, present, and future,

We come before you ever mindful of the many ways you have blessed our parish community in the past, the many ways you continue to sustain and guide us in the present, and the many ways you call us to build up and serve your people in the future.

Through your grace and the goodness of so many generous and dedicated parishioners, we have become a vibrant community of faith. We celebrate the strong foundation of faith that has taken root in our parish, and through our capital campaign embrace the joys and challenges of growing into the future—a future filled with endless possibility. Gift us with the spirit of your peace, wisdom, and courage in all that we do, and in all that we will do. We accept our call to be builders of your kingdom and place our trust in your guiding hand as we pray, "Lord, give success to the work of our hands!" (Psalm 90:17)

We ask this through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Junior High Youth Group loves having fun and few things get the fun started like spending time with your friends and creating pottery! On Sunday, March 31, Junior High Youth Group and friends spent the night at Color Me Mine in Village Square, a place designed for creating and coloring custom pottery. We had a blast with all of our members and the many people who came to help fundraise for our future events. Leah Steingraber and Vicki McGuire were our two lucky raffle winners! Youth Ministry extends a very sincere thank you to all who came to support our ministry, and we invite anyone who is interested to come out with us next time! Thank you for a good time! We look forward to the next Junior High Youth Group

Divine Mercy Devotion

Join us at 2:00 p.m. on Sunday, April 28 to pray the Divine Mercy Chaplet in the Mater Dei Chapel. Bring your Divine Mercy icons to be blessed. The message and devotion to Jesus as The Divine Mercy is based on the writings of Saint Faustina Kowalska, a Polish nun, who, in obedience to her spiritual director, wrote a diary of about 600 pages recording the revelations she received about God's mercy. Even before her death in 1938, the devotion to The Divine Mercy had begun to spread. The message of mercy is that God loves us—all of us—no matter how great our sins. He wants us to recognize that his mercy is greater than our sins, so that we will call upon him with trust, receive his mercy, and let it flow through us to others.
