A Letter from Our Pastor

Dear Parishioners,

OUR FAMILY HAD A BALL AT THE BASH!

Our 8th Annual Boo Bash & International Food Festival last weekend was a great success! At the time of this writing we do not have any financial results, but the feeling in the air the entire day was one of great joy and excitement for all ages!

At one point or another I was able to get around to all the booths and rides and witness the fun everyone was having. I also witnessed such joyful volunteers that made the event attractive to everyone. The only area I missed this year was the Trick-or-Treating in our parish school. I saw a few people as they were setting up their area to greet the trick-or-treaters and hand out a treat or two. I understand even St. John Paul II was on hand to surprise all who travelled through! Saints alive!

The litany of thanks for such an event is a monumental task. But let me at least offer my sincere THANKS to all those who had a part in any way to make this another great success! I'm so grateful to all who shared their treasure by sponsoring any of the booths (i.e., the main raffle, the games, prizes, food, beverages, desserts and treats) allowing us to raise more funds. And then there's all those who shared their time and talent in so many ways (e.g., entertainment, volunteers galore including grillers, cooks, booth operators, set-up, clean-up, take-down, roll-over, play dead [just checking to see if you're paying attention ☺] to make sure our day went as smoothly as possible.

Then there's the THANKS to all of you, our family, who attended, enjoyed, affirmed all the hard work, and helped support this great event. And THANKS to those who were not able to attend but were able to support us through prayer and donations.

While so much hard work by so many individuals was necessary to make this a huge success, it doesn't just happen. Direction and coordination are essential to any operation. And so, a HUGE THANKS to our own Helen Silva who spearheaded the operation along with the team of individuals who were responsible for the various areas. All your hard work, stress and countless hours have born much fruit!

And one last THANKS: to our loving God for inspiring so many hearts to give of themselves to help us all celebrate God's goodness among us. We were blessed with the best weather possible! With God, all things are possible!

OUR NEXT HOLY DAY OF OBLIGATION: ALL SAINTS!

This coming Friday, November 1st, is the Solemnity of All Saints! It's one of the best days in the liturgical year when we thank God for ALL the Saints, both canonized and not canonized, who already share in their eternal reward. To help us give thanks to God for the many saints he has given to us, we will celebrate this Holy Day of Obligation with Masses at 6:30AM, 8AM, 10AM, 12PM, 4PM and 6PM. There's certainly one to fit everyone's schedule!

REMEMBER TO HONOR YOUR DECEASED LOVED ONES

Our ALL SOULS NOVENA OF MASSES begins next Saturday, November 2nd at the 8AM Mass. As we know, the best prayer we can offer is the Mass. So, enrolling our deceased loved ones in our All Souls Novena of Masses is the best possible way we can honor them and support them on their journey to their heavenly reward. Additional envelopes are available in the gathering space. May the souls of all the departed, through the tender and loving mercy of God, live on in peace!

Peace Always,

Fr. James Michael Jankowski
Pastor

Relationship with God

Today's readings invite us into prayer, into relationship with God. Because relationships feel more natural when we know one another well, Sirach encourages us to know God better. In his wisdom, Sirach tells us what God is like: fair, open-minded, compassionate, and attentive. "The Lord will not delay," he says. Knowing that God's help comes right on time, whenever we need it, calms our hearts and helps us trust the Lord. In his second Letter to Timothy, Saint Paul demonstrates his own trust in God. Despite the grueling struggles Saint Paul has faced because of his Christian faith, he praises the Lord for rescuing him time and again. Today's Gospel draws us close to Jesus too, revealing his special love for the poor and humble. As Jesus tells his parable about the prayer habits of a Pharisee and a tax collector, our hearts long to become as gentle as Christ's.

Fact of Faith

All the Faithful Departed:
Commemoration November 2

Prayers for the dead were an ancient tradition, even in some pagan cultures. In Jewish Scriptures, Judas Maccabeus “made atonement for the dead” (2 Mc 12:46), and early Christians inscribed prayers for their dead in Rome’s catacombs. Local Catholic churches started remembering all the faithful departed in the early Middle Ages, with a Spanish feast from the time of St. Isidore of Seville, who died in 636. The fixed November date is generally attributed to St. Odilio of Cluny, who decreed in 998 that all monasteries under the Cluny rule should sing the Office of the Dead the day after the feast of All Saints. This custom gradually spread throughout Europe and was adopted by Rome in the 13th century.

Celebration of Sacraments

On Sunday, November 3 at the 8:00 a.m. Mass we will celebrate the reception of sacraments with several adults in our community.

Bonita DeLanghe will be baptized and receive her 1st Communion and Confirmation.

Daniel Lawrence will make a Profession of Faith and be received into the Catholic Church.

Barbara Shade, Anthony Fejerang, Fernando Casillas, Gina Gray, Galilea Sanchez, Eduardo Sanchez, Leslie Topete, Jan Tomaski, Jessica Vasquez, and Annmarie Morrison will receive the sacrament of Confirmation.

Even though this Mass may be longer, we encourage all parishioners to keep these individuals in your prayers and join us as we welcome them into the full sacramental life of the Church.

RCIA Rite of Welcome and Acceptance

On Sunday, November 3 at the 10:00 a.m. Mass we will celebrate a special ceremony with those in our parish RCIA program. In the Rite of Acceptance, those who are unbaptized (catechumens) express in the presence of the community their desire to change their lives and enter into a relationship with God in Christ.

In the Rite of Welcome, those who are already baptized (candidates) are affirmed in their desire to grow in their baptismal faith and enter into the full sacramental life of the Catholic Church.

At this combined ceremony, our catechumens and candidates are presented by their sponsors so that our larger parish family can welcome them and assure them of our continued prayers and support on their journey to full initiation.

Living the Faith

Raising a Saint

Padre Pio wore mittens when he celebrated Mass. The Church recently declared him a saint, but the designation was hardly needed—anyone who knew him could tell the Franciscan priest was otherworldly. He was known to bilocate and read people's hearts and prophesy the future. But that's not why he wore mittens.

He wore mittens because he had a series of mystical experiences where he encountered the suffering of Jesus and bore the marks of his crucifixion in his body with the stigmata. What worried Pio most about the wounds was not that they were ever fresh and raw and tender—which is to say they were as painful as having nail holes in his limbs—but that they called attention to him. So he covered them up. He wore mittens to celebrate Mass so that he wouldn't distract the faithful.

The tempting thing to do with a saint like Padre Pio is to wonder if the signs of holiness shown by his life are real—the man was a walking miracle dispensary. But let's assume that God can do all things and dig below the surface. A deeper question emerges: How is it possible for someone to shape their lives such that they become a single-hearted lightning rod for the divine?

The answer to that deeper, more interesting question rests on the shoulders of Pio's parents.

Pio's family was unexceptional—hardworking and religious. His parents couldn't read, but they memorized stories from the Bible and told them to their children. Every day, the family prayed the rosary together and attended Mass, and they fasted from meat three days a week.

Pio grew up in a world where faith was just part of the air he breathed. Prayer was as regular as eating breakfast. When he was 5, he decided to dedicate his life to Jesus with at least as much devotion as a kindergartener can offer, which is maybe more than we'd give them credit for. Just after his tenth birthday he met a Franciscan friar who was walking the countryside begging for donations and Pio ran home to declare that he knew what he wanted to do with his life—he wanted to do whatever this shoeless, wandering, begging friar was doing.

His parents listened, and that's an amazing thing if you think about it. They took him to a nearby Franciscan monastery to see if this was possible. The Franciscans said yes, but Pio needed more schooling than he'd gleaned from intermittently attending public school.

So Pio's father—who was illiterate, remember—got on a boat and sailed across the ocean to New York City to find work to pay for a tutor. I encourage you to read that last sentence again.

I came across this article recently that declared that religions are on the decline in America except for one denomination that is growing. And it is growing precisely because parents are dedicated to forming their children in its traditions—its practices and nuances and meaning. They commit to this religious practice in communities and in their homes. It shapes their schedules and meals. They tell their children about role models and the kids follow them with interest.

What is this single, growing denomination? The author named it Athletica: the culture of sports achievement that has become the center of gravity for many American families.

It is a biting critique. It made me wonder if we give as much time and attention to our family's religious practice as we do to the music lessons and sports leagues we facilitate for our kids. What is the air our children breathe? What is the center of gravity for our family rhythm? What is as regular as breakfast for them? What would Padre Pio's dad notice if he followed me around for a day?

Salt and Light

A Month of Hope

Death is a difficult topic. Yet, seeing it through the eyes of faith opens our hearts to the hope that it marks the entrance into the fullness of eternal life.

The Church celebrates All Souls' Day each November 2 to remind us of the reality of heaven and to remember the dead. We pray for our departed loved ones throughout the month, that we might assist in their purification and help facilitate their passage into the fullness of eternal life.

For those who have been involved in an abortion, November can be particularly heartbreaking. Mothers and fathers may be reminded of their children's deaths and find it difficult to forgive themselves. Some parents grieve their losses and wonder if their unbaptized children are in heaven.

The Church teaches us to hope in salvation for unbaptized children, whether they died through miscarriage, abortion, or another reason. She offers comfort for grieving parents and provides the support they need to entrust their children to God's loving care and to deepen their relationship with the Father of Mercies.

The Catechism says "As regards children who have died without Baptism, the Church can only entrust them to the mercy of God, as she does in her funeral rites for them. Indeed, the great mercy of God who desires that all men should be saved, and Jesus' tenderness toward children which caused him to say: 'Let the little children come to me, do not hinder them,' allow us to hope that there is a way of salvation for children who have died without Baptism" (CCC 1261).

For those who may have been involved in some way in the loss of their child, a diocesan-based Project Rachel Ministry can assist. Those feeling guilt, shame and regret due to an abortion can turn to the confidential guidance and support of ministry team members, who are priests, laypeople, or mental health professionals. The ministry helps grieving mothers and fathers to reconcile with the Lord and establish relationships with their children through prayer. Some parents experience a sense of having been forgiven by their child. And, as we are reminded each November, our prayers help those who have died, and they can also pray for us.

Through prayer and the sacraments, we connect not only to our Father, who is boundless in mercy, but also to those for whom we have hope of salvation. Remember St. John Paul II's words to women who've had an abortion: "The Father of mercies is ready to give you his forgiveness and his peace in the Sacrament of Reconciliation. To the same Father and his mercy you can with sure hope entrust your child" (Evangelium Vitae, 99).

As members of the body of Christ, the Church, we are an Easter people, living with the hope given to us by Christ's Resurrection, His victory over sin and death. We are called to bear witness to the gift of every life, no matter how brief or small. This November, remember that every unbaptized child who has died can be entrusted to God's loving mercy. Let us pray especially that parents of aborted children are blessed with the hope of being reunited with them in heaven one day.

Stewardship

Stewardship and "Screwtape"

A Message for Halloween!

Imagine a stranger coming to your door, making demands accompanied by threats. Worse, he's wearing a disguise.

The night is dark, the moon hidden by fall leaves still clinging to the trees. What a terrifying scenario.

But, wait! It's October 31, and the strangers are very small. They're disguised as little Batmen and ballerinas, pirates and princesses, and their demands and threats are accompanied by tiny "pleases" and "thank yous." It's Halloween, and it's actually a magical scenario.

A great deal of life is framed by our perceptions, isn't it? How we approach a situation, whether we see a threat or a promise, a trick, or perhaps a treat, depends so much on our own attitude and the honesty we bring to our lives.

In his classic book, The Screwtape Letters, C.S. Lewis portrays a senior devil, Screwtape, as a bureaucrat who is mentoring a young devil named Wormwood in how to be a tricky enemy of humanity. Screwtape knows that one of the best ways to seduce people to evil is to persuade them to rationalize their choices. The more dishonesty Screwtape can help us finagle into our reasoning, the more successful the devil's enterprise.

It's a great book for stewardship reading, because it makes us reexamine our own perceptions of evil and good in our lives.

"I think I should stay home from Mass this morning. God knows I really need the rest." "I don't really have any talents to offer my parish in this year's ministry sign-ups." "I earned this money and it's mine. What I do with it is my business."

Screwtape would probably be very pleased with those rationalizations. They help us to "trick" ourselves into accepting a false scenario. This timeless book by C.S. Lewis helps us understand the varying methods that the devil uses to keep Christians shallow in their faith and disconnected from God. As the Apostle Peter writes in 1 Peter 5:8-9: "Be sober and vigilant. Your opponent the devil is prowling around like a roaring lion, looking for someone to devour. Resist him, steadfast in faith..." If you want to give yourself a "treat" for Halloween, pick up a copy of The Screwtape Letters and see how it relates to your own life.

A Stewardship Moment

Thirtieth Sunday in Ordinary Time

There is an interesting twist we find in today's gospel when we hear Jesus' parable of the Pharisee and the tax collector praying in the temple. The Pharisee is "praying to himself." It doesn't mean he was praying silently. It seems to mean something a lot more troubling, that he is praying to himself; that God is not his prayer's intended audience. The words of the Pharisee are very much centered on himself: he makes claims about his character. He highlights his own admirable activities. Good stewards of their prayer lives know that a prayer of praise and thanksgiving should focus on the goodness of God. Do your prayers of thanksgiving always stay focused on God's unfathomable, immeasurable goodness and generosity?

25th Anniversary of the Dedication of SEAS

A Catholic church is not merely an assembly room for the faithful, but a place that is set apart permanently and with great seriousness as a special place of God's presence, like the Temple in Jerusalem during the old covenant. That is why the commemoration of a church dedication day is celebrated as a solemnity, outranking most Sundays, even the parish's patron saint feast day. In June 2020, our parish will celebrate the 25th anniversary of the dedication of our beautiful church. We'll have various opportunities to gather and fellowship in anticipation of this momentous occasion. Bible Bingo on Saturday, November 9 is one of our scheduled events leading up to our silver celebration. Learn more below. We hope you will join us!
